

Dept. of International Area Studies

Department of International Area Studies seeks to produce area specialists capable of responding to the challenges of the global age by systematically linking an array of disciplines for the study of Northeast Asia. Students can tailor their coursework to their academic and professional interests in accordance with their respective fields of concentration: China, Russia, Japan, or the entire northeast Asian region. Graduates have earned some of the finest accolades for their academic prowess and have moved on to advanced graduate programs and various lines of work. Sustained by major funding sources, the Department's three research arms (Center for Interdisciplinary Research on China, Institute of Eurasian Studies, and Institute of Japanese Studies) all have won critical acclaim as the foremost centers of research for their respective fields. Ranging from the most literary of the humanities to the most practical of business management, the faculty's diverse research interests reflect the Department's commitment to all-round education in area studies.

□ International and Northeast Asian Studies Major

International and Northeast Asian Studies Major places a particular emphasis on a comparative and interdisciplinary approach to the history, politics, economics, and international relations of the Northeast Asian region as a whole. It is designed to produce area specialists for such careers as diplomatic service, business sectors, and journalism.

□ Russian Area Studies Major

Russian Area Studies Major offers a wide range of courses on politics, economics, sociology, history, and culture studies of Russia. The department also provides opportunities for students to take part in international exchange programs in partnership with prominent universities in Russia. Through its interdisciplinary approach, the department trains students to become Russian area specialists as diplomats, businessmen, journalists, and scholars.

□ Chinese Area Studies Major

Chinese Area Studies enables students to focus on "China" as a particular field of specialization. Chinese Area Studies provides a broad understanding of Chinese society, history and culture, economic and political development, contemporary issues as well as the scale of China's current and expected impact on the world economy and international relations.

□ Japanese Area Studies Major

Students majoring in Japanese Area Studies are expected to be proficient in the Japanese language and to learn about various aspects of Japan. Course offerings are designed to give students a multidisciplinary overview of Japan's politics, society, economy, history, and culture. Issues in Japanese studies are bound to be sharply divisive; students are trained to keep those issues in perspective through rigorous critique of the latest media coverage as well as scholarly research on Japan. Recent graduates' career paths include foreign service, international trade, government think tanks, and further academic training in Korea and abroad.
