Dept. of English Language & Literature

The Department of English Language and Literature offers a professional, yet congenial environment in which students and faculty members pursue the study and teaching of English in all principal areas from the Medieval Period to the 21st century. Our diverse faculty boasts nationally and internationally known scholars in British and American literature, linguistics and literary theories. We invite you to explore our exciting programs at the Department of English Language and Literature.

❑ English Language Major

English Language Major specializes in a wide variety of subjects, including English syntax, English semantics, English phonology, English morphology, and their applications.

❑ English Literature Major

English Literature Major specializes in a wide variety of subjects, including critical theories, cultural studies and literary history. We also offer a broad range of courses in Medieval, Renaissance, 18th Century, Romantic, Victorian, American and Postcolonial Literature and Culture.

❑ Courses

❑ Core Courses

· English Grammar and Its Application (3)

This course aims to enhance the understanding of English grammar through a diachronic and synchronic analysis concerning the theories of English grammar.

· Researches in British and American Literature (3)

This course is designed to develop a general comprehension of British and American literature through research of their literary works.

· Research Ethics & Thesis Study

Graduate students will develop an understanding of ethical decision-making while conducting research and writing academic papers. They will also improve their general understanding of writing a thesis or dissertation by discussing research topic selection, research methodology, and writing procedures.

❑ English Language Major

· Analysis of Sentence Structure (3)

This is an introductory syntax course for graduate students. Both the earlier version and the later development of the Principles and Parameters theory, one of the major approaches to syntax, will be introduced. Throughout the course, primary emphasis will be placed on the syntactic properties of the English language.

- English Semantics (3)

First, seven types of meaning are discussed. Then, componential analysis and the relationship between syntax and semantics are discussed. Finally, presuppositions and factuality are examined.

- English Sounds Heard and Unheard (3)

Phonology is the study of sound systems of a language. It investigates how speech sounds are used systematically to convey meaning in different languages. The sounds used to make a difference in meaning are the phonemes, the basic concept of phonology. With the inventory of the phonemes of English, basic principles of phonology will be introduced to prepare students to analyze various phonological patterns of English.

- Studies in English Morphology (3)

First, the students practice analyzing words into morphemes. Then, the way in which words are derived or created is discussed and the relationship between syntax and morphology is examined.

- Studies in Discourse Analysis (3)

This course is designed to give students a broad introduction to discourse analysis as the systematic study of the internal structure of discourse and its meaning in context.

- Studies in Applied Linguistics (3)

The ultimate goals of this course are to understand human nature and to study how language can influence human beings by reflecting on the relationship between language and the internal and external environments of human beings based on the perspectives of sociolinguistics and psycholinguistics.

- Seminar in English Linguistics (3)

Designated topics in current English linguistics will be discussed, placing emphasis on the recent development of the Minimalist Program. Particular attention will be paid on pursuing new analyses of the linguistic data which have been central topics in linguistic research in the last few decades.

- Language Acquisition (3)

This course aims to study the process of children's language learning and their language system by examining the process of their first language acquisition. This also will help us to understand the language system of adults and provide their expertise with key readings in the area taken from the works of important writers and provided them with guidance and questions for further thought. This course concentrates particularly on practical rather than theoretical aspects of phonetics and phonology.

□ English Literature Major

• Seminars in British and American Literature Researches (3)

There are various ways of conducting research of British and American authors and their works, but in this course a major emphasis is laid on the basics with a view to preparing the students for further studies and research abroad in English-speaking countries. The students, therefore, will be asked to read quite a number of excerpts or works in all major literary genres of British and American literature, both past and present.

• Studies in 19th Century British and American Poetry (3)

This course covers diverse but interrelated literary movements in the 19th century Great Britain, that is, Romanticism, early and high Victorian literature, –fin-de-siecle and Georgian poetry. At the same time, it also pays due attention to their trans-Atlantic influence on the nascent American literature, especially within the genre of poetry.

• Studies in 19th Century British Fiction (3)

This is a discussion based course focusing on major novels of the 19th century—and tracing the historical and social contexts of individual works. The novels to be read will include the following: Ivanhoe, Emma, Little Dorrit, Vanity Fair, Middlemarch, Jude the Obscure, Jane Eyre, and Wuthering Heights.

• Studies in American Fiction (3)

Main texts will be chosen from the works of Cooper, Hawthorne, Melville, Twain, Howells, James, Crane, Norris, London, Cather, Anderson, Dreiser, Lewis, Fitzgerald, Hemingway, Woolf, Faulkner, Farrell, Steinbeck, Warren, Mailer, Salinger, Styron, Ellison, Bellow and other writers.

• Studies in Modern British and American Drama (3)

While covering representative works by major 20th century British and American dramatists, this course will help deepen the students' critical understanding of modern British and American drama. The dramatists covered in the course will include Bernard Shaw, W. B. Yeats, J. M. Synge, Sean O'Casey, T. S. Eliot, Noel Coward, Samuel Beckett, Harold Pinter (British and Irish) and Eugene O'Neill, Tennessee Williams, Miller, and Albee (American).

- Studies in Modern & Contemporary British and American Poetry (3)

This course reviews the works of poetry in general within modernism and postmodernism of the 20th century and thereafter.

- English Renaissance Drama (3)

The English drama was at its highest in the Renaissance England not just nationally but by any international standard. At the center of the dazzling development was no doubt Shakespeare, but there were several other playwrights such as Christopher Marlowe and John Webster who even now draw our full attention. In this course students will be given the opportunity to study the period and the drama works of English Renaissance, including those of Shakespeare.

- Studies in British Literary Periods (3)

This course offers an opportunity to study a variety of texts from different literary genres which were produced during a specific period. It will focus on the historical, social, ideological contexts reflected or represented in those texts.

- Studies in Modern British Fiction (3)

We will read some of the major modern or postmodern British novels since 1900, starting from the works by Conrad, Woolf, Lawrence, or Joyce. We will be mainly concerned with the ways the modern or postmodern novels respond to their cultural contexts.

- Studies in American Literature and Culture (3)

This course focuses on cultural topics in American literature, dealing with American literary texts essential for understanding American culture.

- Studies in 18th Century British Fiction (3)

This course will concentrate on the major works of English novelists before 1800, such as Robinson Crusoe, Moll Flanders, Pamela, Joseph Andrews, Clarissa, Tom Jones, Humphrey Clinker, and Tristram Shandy. Our interest will be in the development of English novel form, in literary reflections of social contexts, and in the artistic achievement of individual novels.

- Studies in British and American Literary Criticism (3)

This course will cover British and American literary criticism from Philip Sidney through Dryden, Pope, Coleridge, Arnold and Eliot to the New Criticism and Structuralism, major critical trends and theories in the early and middle to late 20th century. Hopefully, the students will be made aware of the historical development of British and American literary criticism, on the one hand, and the major critical and theoretical points, on the other.

- British and American Drama Theories (3)

As drama classes are usually conducted in terms of drama works, the opportunities are rare for students to come in contact with drama theories. Considering the situation, this course aims to teach various drama theories in terms of period and genre.

- Studies in British Authors (3)

This course is the Study of major British writers from the early 18th Century to the present. This seminar will select some representative British writers and explore their aesthetic world focusing on their major works.

Dept. of International Area Studies

Department of International Area Studies seeks to produce area specialists capable of responding to the challenges of the global age by systematically linking an array of disciplines for the study of Northeast Asia. Students can tailor their coursework to their academic and professional interests in accordance with their respective fields of concentration: Russia, China, Japan, or the entire northeast Asian region. Graduates have earned some of the finest accolades for their academic prowess and have moved on to advanced graduate programs and various lines of work. Sustained by major funding sources, the Department's three research arms (Institute of Eurasian Studies, Center for Interdisciplinary Research on China, and Institute of Japanese Studies) all have won critical acclaim as the foremost centers of research for their respective fields. Ranging from the most literary of the humanities to the most practical of business management, the faculty's diverse research interests reflect the Department's commitment to all-round education in area studies.

□ International and Northeast Asian Area Studies Major

International and Northeast Asian Studies Major places a particular emphasis on a comparative and interdisciplinary approach to the history, politics, economics, and international relations of the Northeast Asian region as a whole. It is designed to produce area specialists for such careers as diplomatic service, business sectors, and journalism.

□ Russian Area Studies Major

Russian Area Studies Major offers a wide range of courses on politics, economics, sociology, history, and culture studies of Russia. The department also provides opportunities for students to take part in international exchange programs in partnership with prominent universities in Russia. Through its interdisciplinary approach, the department trains students to become Russian area specialists as diplomats, businessmen, journalists, and scholars.

□ Chinese Area Studies Major

Chinese Area Studies enables students to focus on "China" as a particular field of specialization. Chinese Area Studies provides a broad understanding of Chinese society, history and culture, economic and political development, contemporary issues as well as the scale of China's current and expected impact on the world economy and international relations.

□ Japanese Area Studies Major

Students majoring in Japanese Area Studies are expected to be proficient in the Japanese language and to learn about various aspects of Japan. Course offerings are designed to give students a multidisciplinary overview of Japan's politics, society, economy, history, and culture. Issues in Japanese studies are bound to be sharply divisive; students are trained to keep those issues in perspective through rigorous critique of the latest media coverage as well as scholarly research on Japan. Recent graduates' career paths include foreign service, international trade, government think tanks, and further academic training in Korea and abroad.

Dept. of Public Administration

Contemporary governments have faced a number of vexing public policy problems in the development of scientific technology and information society and local self government. The Department of Public Administration has been dedicated to provide outstanding programs corresponding to various demands for public management and public policy. Its curriculum ensures that all graduates understand the political, economic, and social context of public administration; achieve substantial competency in management techniques; and gain experience in applying qualitative and quantitative analysis to public policy issues. In recent years, governments, nonprofit and private employers need highly -skilled, well -trained public policy analysts and administrators. Many of our graduates hold leadership positions across the spectrum of public, nonprofit, and private organizations.

The Department of Public Administration provides Master degree, Ph.D. degree, and unified both Master and Ph.D degree course. The Master course is divided into two majors, public administration and public policy, both of which focus on basic knowledge and skills for Ph.D. course. The Ph.D. course intends to provide leading scholars and policy specialists that can competently and effectively deal with a variety of public administration and policy problems.

Public Administration Major

The Public Administration Major is designed to explore the theory and practice associated with management of public programs in central and local government. This major offers a variety of courses relating topics and issues in efficient and effective management of public affairs such as organization theory, human resource, public finance, strategic performance, public marketing, resource allocation and local administration. It serves students to pursue their academic and practical career goals in the department of public administration, research institute, central and local government and other public institutions.

Public Policy Major

Contemporary government, nonprofit as well as private institutions and organizations confront a wide variety of complex public policy problems in the 21st century. The public policy major program provides both a comprehensive knowledge on policy studies and learning opportunities to master analytical skills. At the end of day, students can be high-skilled and well-trained public policy professionals who can dissect a problem, analyze and interpret both quantitative and qualitative data, and evaluate and craft concrete solutions.

Dept. of Sociology

Sociology explores the causes of order and changes in human societies by analysing scientifically the structure and progress of a society as well as the characteristics of the human being. Sociologists understand individuals as both elements and products of a society. Therefore, a sociological perspective considers both individuals and their social contexts simultaneously in explaining all human behaviour and social phenomena. As modern societies become ever more diversified and complex, sociological perspectives and insights are increasingly required to understand social changes and to find useful lines of actions. The educational objective of this program is to offer students sociological insights to analyse scientifically the social phenomena through a variety of theories and research methods.

The following areas of knowledge are central to the graduate degree in sociology: Knowledge of the fundamental concepts, theories, and modes of explanation appropriate to the understanding of human societies: 1) Knowledge of the structure of modern societies, its social stratification, its ethnic, racial, religious, and gender differentiation, and its main social institutions-- family, polity, economy, sports, and religion: 2) Knowledge of the basic social processes that maintain and alter social structure, especially the processes of integration, organization, and conflict: and 3) Understanding the diversity of human societies, including the differences between major historical types such as agricultural, industrial, and information societies.

❑ Sociological Theories & Korean Society Major

Dept. of Communication

Communication is a burgeoning field increasingly influencing all of our social institutions. We believe that cultural, social, and personal experience improves through more effective understanding and practice of communication. Our program is developed to understand various issues and phenomena regarding communication. Our courses explore the theory behind contemporary mass communications and telecommunications including their origins, structures and implications for our society.

Our program is designed for students whose interests in communications are focused on broad issues involving communication studies, advertising, public relations, journalism, and new media. Our courses seek to understand communication and to improve its practice in theories and methodologies to better explain, predict and control over various communication phenomena.

□ Communication Major

The communication major focuses on understanding of various media including newspapers, magazines, TV, CATV, satellite TV, Internet, etc. It prepares students for varied and long-term careers in areas such as newspaper, magazine, broadcast and online journalism. Moreover, it prepares students for lifelong learning beyond their job by teaching them to be active participants in society who can critically consume as well as produce media content.

□ Advertising & Public Relations Major

Dept. of Education

The graduate programs in the Department of Education at Kookmin University have focused on equipping professionals with an extensive knowledge of philosophical, social, economic, technical and psychological influences operating on and within the educational system. There are four graduate programs in this department: (1) Curriculum Studies & Instructional Technology, (2) Educational Administration & Lifelong Education, (3) Educational Psychology, Counseling & Special Education, (3) Educational Measurement, Evaluation & Korean Reunification Education, and . The primary targets of these programs are the professionals who wish to improve the quality of their work in their current roles, to prepare themselves for new roles, and/or to improve their research capabilities. Graduates of the Education Department may pursue their careers as university professors, educational researchers, educational administrators, policy makers, lifelong educators, instructional designers, curriculum developers, counselors, and special education professionals. Each graduate program is uniquely designed to link theory with practice as described below.

※ Please note that the majors of the department are composed of two distinct fields connected with the 'and' symbol (&). The specific majors have different academic advisors and requirements. For instance, the A & B major does not mean one major, but two different and separate majors of A and B, only combined in one title for administrative convenience.

□ Educational Administration & Lifelong Education Major

The curriculum of the Educational Administration & Lifelong Education program is designed to prepare graduates for administrative and supervisory positions in schools, businesses and a variety of human service agencies. It provides candidates with a well-rounded but in-depth understanding of issues related to the educational policy, school administration, human resource development, and lifelong education. The program is theory and problem-based in that it addresses the relevant theories of organization, leadership, and contemporary issues likely to confront school administrators, supervisors, and lifelong educators.

□ Educational Psychology & School Counseling & Special Education Major

The Educational Psychology, Counseling, and Special Education program presents a core of courses which provide professionals with the skill, mastery and competencies to deliver comprehensive counseling and educational services in many educational and community environments. It offers academic training to study cognitive, emotional and motivational characteristics of learners, as well as the problems that learners experience in the process of learning. Along with the academic training, the program provides unique practicum experiences through the university's Student Counseling Center and afterschool projects in the local public schools. Graduates of the program pursue their career in teaching, counseling, and scholarly research.

□ Educational Measurement and Evaluation & Reunification Education Major

The Educational measurement & Evaluation aims to understand to analyze, and to interpret educational issues for Master & doctoral students. This course also requires students to utilize various statistic methods effectively to understand educational issues. The Major of 'Reunification Education' aims at fostering educational experts on how to prepare for the reunified Korea in education sector, what the rightful educational direction could be for the reunified Korea and educational policy and system issues of the reunified Korea. The courses reflect various needs of the society and the students in order to prepare the graduate students to become effective and insightful researcher in the area of Korean reunification education.

□ Curriculum Studies & Instructional Technology Major

The Curriculum Studies & Instructional Technology major program deals with the theories and practices to analyze, design, develop, implement, and evaluate educational systems and programs in order to improve human learning and performance. The program provides the solid foundations for philosophical, theoretical, psychological, methodological, and technological perspectives to fulfill various educational needs. The graduates of the program will be able to work as an curriculum scholar, curriculum developer, curriculum policy maker, instructional designer, learning and performance consultant, e-learning designer, and multimedia program designer.

□ Courses

□ Core Courses

• Research Ethics & Thesis Study (3)

Provides the quantitative and the qualitative research methods widely used in education. Expansively it focuses on the experimental designs and the survey based upon the logical position in the qualitative arena. Analyzes educational problems in the practical education settings and investigates the further directions to solve the educational problems. The disciplinary bases for associated inquiry in educational administration and policy study are addressed.

Examples of research from various paradigms, and disciplines, and professional fields are used to show the relationship among theory and method.

• Practicum in Educational Administration (3)

Current issues, developments, and concerns bearing on Educational Administration. Also in the course a basic introduction to the research methodology & statistical analysis associated with various issues of educational administration will be offered. Students will apply the skill through the development of proposal and instrument that can be applied to the field research.

• Human Resource Management in Education (3)

Because individuals are so important to the achievement of the goals and objectives of an educational system, human resource management is of central importance. This course will cover issues and research topics related to recruitment, selection and placement, compensation process, and performance evaluation of personnels in varied educational institutions.

• Seminar in Lifelong Education and Human Resource Development (3)

This course aims to raise the professional competencies of those concerned about Lifelong Education and Human Resource Development by providing an overview and understanding of major principles and practices of the field. This course expects students to find their own research interest and topics in relation to the field of Lifelong Education and Human Resource Development.

• Theoretical Foundation of Lifelong Education (3)

This course aims to orient participants to theories of lifelong education, develop the participants' understanding of major theoretical perspectives, and provide an opportunity for applying the theories for practice. Topics included are selected theories and concepts of lifelong education, historical background and current issues of the field.

• Trends & Issues in Human Resource Development (3)

This course provides an overview of human resource development (HRD) theories and practices in organizations. Adult learning theory and the concept of the learning organization will be explored. These concepts will be used to examine the roles and responsibilities of employees and organizations in the development of the workforce throughout the employment cycle. Development of effective training programs for technical skill, management and executive development, and organization acculturation will be discussed.

• Adult Learning Theories and Methods (3)

The purpose of this course is to examine key approaches, perspectives and issues helping students understand core theories regarding how adults learn and gain.

• Dissertation Seminar in Educational Administration & Lifelong Education (3)

This seminar is designed to help students accomplish their final but crucial part of their graduate program, that is writing a dissertation. Students will be expected to have a dissertation proposal in hand by the end of the semester.

• Program Design for Lifelong Learning (3)

This course examines theories and practices with regard to the planning and development of lifelong learning programs, based on psychological, physical, and emotional characteristics of adult learners and their learning needs.

• Life Cycle and Career Design (3)

This course is designed to develop students' theoretical and practical competencies for lifelong career design. For doing so, students will review a variety of theories and empirical studies regarding lifelong career design.

• HRD Consulting and Career Development Planning (3)

This course is designed to review theoretical frameworks and research methodologies for HRD consulting and to explore theories and practices of career developing as a core area of HRD consulting.

• Lifelong Learning and HRD Program Evaluation (3)

This course is designed to review a variety of program evaluation theories and to apply the evaluation theories for program evaluation practice.

□ Educational Psychology & School Counseling & Special Education Major

• Seminar in Educational Psychology (3)

Human learning in the educational setting. Cognition, development, learning, motivation, affective processes and socialization. Emphasis on skill in influencing classroom learning and discipline.

• Advanced Developmental Psychology (3)

Overview of the current state of empirical knowledge in the field of human development. Introduction to key topics relating to each of the major periods of human growth beginning with infancy.

• Psychological Assessment (3)

An overview of the principles and methods of psychological assessment including observational methods, interviewing, behavioral analysis, and standardized psychological testing as a means to arriving at a comprehensive individual analysis and of creating a treatment plan for both children and adults.

• Personality and Psychological Adjustment (3)

A comprehensive understanding of various perspectives on human personality. Focus on psychological well-being in relation to personal characteristics and social environments. Additional emphasis is on cultural differences in determinants and dynamics of personality.

• Psychological Counseling Skills and Practices (3)

Develop and practice counseling process and interview techniques for graduate students. Special attention not only to understand the link of the theoretical approaches to the practical experience, but also to ethical issues in counseling.

• Researches in Addiction Psychology and Counseling (3)

Systemic examination of current research on addiction psychology and counseling intervention programs, including behavioral, developmental and other major perspectives on human behaviors and attitude.

• Understanding Learning and Instruction for Students with Difficulties (3)

This course focuses on the nature of the reading process, current literacy theory and practices, and research-based instructional strategies to develop literacy skills in emergent and developing readers and students with reading/learning disabilities. Differences in reading abilities will be examined in light of providing appropriate, effective, and meaningful literacy instruction.

• Special Education Assessment & Diagnostics (3)

This course focuses on the diagnosis of disabilities emphasis on learning disabilities. Assessment techniques for reading difficulties and the array of continuous assessments that a teacher may employ to appropriately develop remediation strategies will be introduced. Emphasis is placed on using assessment to guide instruction and remediation. Remediation strategies and effective reading programs are also introduced.

• Instructional Techniques for Students with Special Needs (3)

This course presents cognitive and behavioral instructional approaches for teaching children with special needs in a variety of service delivery options. Students will be able to analyze instructional approaches, strategies, and materials for advanced-level consultant and resource teachers in special education. The emphasis of this course is the development of interactive skills among professionals in order to facilitate collaboration with general education.

• Teaching Students with Speech and Language Impairment (3)

Candidates will study characteristics and types of communication disabilities and understand social/academic difficulties that students with communication disabilities experiences. Candidates will learn the different educational techniques that should be modified for the successful learning and students with communication disabilities.

• Clinical Practicum : Learning Disabilities (3)

Candidates will directly teach and evaluate the progress of students with learning and reading disabilities. Through the course, candidates will administer assessment tools on cognitive abilities, oral language, and achievement in reading, spelling, and writing. Interpreting test results and writing profiling report is also required. Candidates will learn to make informed instructional decisions to meet the unique needs of individual readers and deliver the scientifically proved effective instruction.

• Seminar in Mathematics Disabilities (3)

This course provide principles, methods, and specially designed mathematics instruction for students with learning disabilities or mild/moderate mental retardation. Students will learn about concept development, concrete materials, procedural learning, memory strategies and compensations.

• Seminar in Dyslexia (3)

This course provides in-depth learning experiences targeting literacy; both reading and writing. Students will learn about current issues around reading disabilities including assessment, diagnosis, intervention and school policy. The course also provides evidence-based instructional approaches and effective curriculum that has been developed for multicultural students and other at risk students.

• Understanding Emotional and Behavioral Disabilities (3)

This research-based introductory course will provide comprehensive information on Emotional and Behavioral disorders. The course material will provide you with information on the following: definitions, characteristics, prevalence, causes, assessment, education service placements, functional behavior assessment, ABA and Positive Behavior Supports, advocacy, and current issues in the field.

• Foundation of Literacy Education : Reading & Writing Development (3)

The goal of this course is to promote students' understanding regarding literacy development in the areas of phonemic awareness, word reading, spelling, reading fluency, reading comprehension, and writing. Students compare and contrast various theories explaining children's literacy development. The teaching strategies related to the developmental theories and developmental stages will be discussed.

□ Educational Measurement and Evaluation, Reunification Education Major

• Basic Statistics for Educational Research (3)

Basic statistics for education research includes topics such as descriptive statistics, statistical distributions and their uses, hypothesis testing using z-test and t-test, analysis of difference in two means, simple linear regression and correlation. In addition, this course on statistics emphasizes applications in education and use point-and-click statistical software(SPSS).

• Intermediate statistical methods for educational research (3)

Introduce regression analysis and analysis of variance. Topics include univariate linear regression, techniques of multiple regression and model building. Furthermore, theory and methods for constructing and analyzing designed experiments are considered. Basic concepts in design of experiments and associated designs will be covered. Students apply lessons from didactic lectures using prepared examples.

• Construction and Use of Evaluation Instruments (3)

Introduce development of scale and its application. Topics include various statistical approaches and procedures which are necessary for designing, collecting, analyzing data and utilizing results and applications.

• Program Evaluation (3)

Introduce the purpose of evaluation and different theoretical approaches to evaluation. Students will gain experience in designing evaluation plans identifying appropriate evaluation methods and choosing relevant tools and techniques.

• Multivariate analysis of variance (3)

Introduce methodology of multivariate statistics. Topics include multivariate normal distribution, MANOVA, principal component analysis, discrimination, classification, and canonical correlation. Students apply lessons from didactic lectures using prepared examples.

• Hierarchical linear modeling (3)

Introduce Multilevel and hierarchical models for educational and social sciences. Hierarchical(multilevel) data also arise in longitudinal studies where an individual's responses over time are correlated with each other. Students can Interpret and diagnose multilevel models and model building.

Courses

Core Courses

- Microeconomics (3)

A core course in the graduate microeconomics: theories of consumer behavior, production, costs, the firm in various markets. The main emphasis is on the tools of economic analysis.

- Macroeconomics (3)

A core course in the graduate macroeconomics: models of business fluctuations, theories of consumption, investment, money demand, and analysis of monetary and fiscal policies.

- Econometrics (3)

It covers the single and multiple linear regression models, the associated distribution theory, and testing procedures: corrections for heteroskedasticity, autocorrelation, and simultaneous equations: and other extensions as time permits. Students also apply the techniques to a variety of data sets using PCs.

- Studies in Microeconomics (3)

Advanced Microeconomics with emphasis on mathematical analysis and advanced topics. The course aims to teach the technical tools of economics and to apply them to a wide range of human behavior. Tools include consumer theory, optimization under uncertainty, game theory, welfare economics, incentive theory, and the economics of information. Topics include industrial organization, public finance, law and economics, the economics of the family, religion and riots.

- Studies in Macroeconomics (3)

Advanced macroeconomics with a theoretical orientation applicable to research relevant to macroeconomics.

- Research Ethics & Thesis Study (3)

This course offers basic tools necessary for thorough analysis in business and economics. In this course students get acquainted with computing skills, essay writings, word processing skills, Excels, and so on.

□ Major Courses

- Statistics (3)

This course is intended as an introduction to statistical inference and decision theory. The emphasis is on basic concepts and the theory underlying statistical methods rather than on a detailed exposition of all the different methods, although most of the elementary techniques of statistical inference and decision are discussed.

- Public Sector Economics (3)

The aim of this course is to provide an understanding of the role of government, the concept of public goods, cost-benefit analysis of public expenditures, and the workings of the public sector in general. Students are taught to develop a critical and analytical ability concerning problems of the public sector.

- Money and Banking (3)

It covers the basic theories and the various practical issues on money, banking and financial markets. For example, it mainly studies the behavior of interest rates and the working of financial markets, the principles of bank management, and the central bank and monetary policy.

- International Monetary Economics (3)

This course covers the second half of the international monetary issues. Two major themes are the international capital markets and international policy coordination.

- History of Economic Thought (3)

This course is divided into two major fields. The first one is a comparative study of the three major strands in economic thinking, that is subjective preference theory, cost-of-production theory and labour value theory. The second one is a historical review of classical economists including Mercantilists, Adam Smith, Thomas Malthus and David Ricardo.

- Industrial Organization (3)

This course covers the relationship between market structure, firm behavior, and market performance comprehensively. It also covers theory of the firm, models of industries and markets, the interior structure of firms, collusion, vertical relationship, auctions, patents and technological innovation, mergers and acquisitions, monopoly regulation and public policy.

- Labor Economics (3)

This course deals with various kinds of problems surrounding the transactions on labor service between workers and firms. Topics include the theory of time allocation, the payoffs to education as an investment, detecting wage discrimination, unions, and wage patterns.

- Political Economics (3)

The key concepts and theoretical structure of Marxian radical economic thoughts are explored. The background and principal ideas of Marx's historical materialism are explained. The basic idea of labour theory of value is introduced and assessed in comparison with the neoclassical economics.

- International Economics (3)

This course provides a framework for analyzing international flow of goods and services. Major focus of the course is on the determinants of international trade patterns.

- Economic History (3)

Economic analysis is applied to issues in Economic History. Typical topics include the development of the modern economy, the economics of colonization, the sources of nineteenth-century economic growth, economic causes and effects of immigration, the expansion of education.

- Applied Microeconomics (3)

An introduction to "the strategic way of thinking" and a primer on game theory with applications to economics and other social sciences. Topics covered include the prisoner's dilemma and the arms race; dominance reasoning and the minimax theorem; mixed strategies and Nash equilibrium; bargaining and collective action; threats, promises and negotiated games; the evolution of cooperation. No special mathematical preparation required.

- Mathematical Economics (3)

The study of functions and their rates of change. Fundamental ideas of calculus are introduced early and used to provide a framework for the study of mathematical modeling involving algebraic, exponential, and logarithmic functions. Thorough understanding of differential calculus promoted by yearlong reinforcement. Applications to economics emphasized according to the interests of our students.

- Financial Economics (3)

It covers the conduct of monetary policy and regulation on financial market. It also deals with the main features of Korean financial securities market.

- Economics of Arts and Culture (3)

This course explores the economic issues that arise in the organization of economic activity in the visual and performing arts and culture with substantial "creative" components. Issues of domestic and international public policy are addressed.

- Taxation and Public Finance (3)

Surveys theoretical and empirical analyses of taxation and government expenditures. Topics include tax incidence, optimal tax theory, public goods and externalities, and empirical analysis of responses to taxation.

- Studies in Money and Banking (3)

The theory of income determination, capital markets, and macroeconomic policy in the open economy. Applications to such issues as exchange rate determination, the history of international monetary regimes, international policy coordination, the debt crisis, and reform in Latin America, Eastern Europe, and Korea.

- Studies in International Monetary Economics (3)

Financial aspects of growth and income determination in open economies. Topics include international business cycle, monetary and exchange rate regimes, capital flows, and current issues in international macroeconomic policy.

- Studies in History of Economic Thought (3)

Primarily for faculty, visitors, and graduate students writing dissertations in economic history. Discussions of work in progress.

- Studies in Industrial Organization (3)

Theoretical and empirical analysis of contemporary topics in industrial organization. Uses economic theory to analyze important issues facing firms, and examines the practical challenges of empirical applications of theory. Topics include horizontal relationships and mergers, vertical integration and control through contractual arrangements, price discrimination, information and search costs, innovation and intellectual property rights, and network externalities. Each topic combines theoretical analysis with a study of actual firm behavior.

- Studies in Labor Economics (3)

Theoretical and empirical research on labor markets. Wage determination covers equalizing differences, human capital, job mobility, and incentive models. Labor supply covers life cycle models. Labor demand includes minimum wage and union models.

- Studies in Political Economics (3)

Offers an institutionalist perspective on the economy and economics. Analyzes the historical processes by which land, labor, and capital became commodities, and the processes by which the picture of the modern Western economy as one based on absolute scarcity, unlimited wants, and calculating, maximizing homo economicus came to be drawn. Discusses institutional basis of capitalism, relationship of politics to economics, and the limits of economic analysis.

- Studies in International Economics (3)

Research papers in all aspects of international economics, including theory, econometrics, and policy.

- Economic History of Korea (3)

It covers the character and development process of major industries that had been observed in the Korean economy during the Korean modernization period, dated from the second half of 19th century through the first half of 20th century.

- Studies in Applied Microeconomics (3)

An introduction to game theory and its applications to economics at a high level of rigor. Topics include extensive form and strategic form games, Nash equilibrium and Nash's existence theorem, subgame-perfect equilibrium, Bayesian equilibrium, and applications to repeated games, auctions, and bargaining.

- Studies in Mathematical Economics (3)

Topics vary slightly from year to year, but typically include the equilibria of various classes of games, the definition and application of "common knowledge" and non-equilibrium processes of strategy adjustment.

- Studies in Financial Economics (3)

An introduction to financial economics emphasizing discrete time models and empirical applications. Reviews basic asset pricing theory. Discusses empirical topics including predictability of stock and bond returns, the equity premium puzzle, and intertemporal equilibrium models.

- Cultural Policy and Economy (3)

It aims to provide an outlet for an interdisciplinary and international exploration of the nature, function and impact of cultural policies. It includes a broad view of cultural policy, encompassing culture as a "way of life" as well as culture in the narrower sense of the arts and cultural industries. It is concerned both with the policies of institutions and with the wider discourses which relate to the general conditions of culture.

- Studies in Econometrics (3)

An introduction to multiple regression techniques with focus on economic applications. Discusses extensions to discrete response, panel data, and time series models, as well as issues such as omitted variables, missing data, sample selection, randomized and quasi-experiments, and instrumental variables. Aims to provide students with an understanding of and ability to apply econometric and statistical methods using computer packages.

- Economic Development (3)

Provides a graduate-level overview of the theory of and evidence on economic development from a policy-oriented perspective. Aim is to allow students to analyze policy debates surrounding development from a broad and rigorous analytical base.

- Comparative Economic Systems (3)

The major institutions of capitalist market economy is theoretically explained. To do this some ideas of the Neo-Institutional school are introduced such as transaction cost, property rights. Some non-economic institutions like family are also covered. A comparative study of various forms of capitalism such as Anglo saxon model, German models is conducted as well.

- Environmental Economics (3)

Covers the theoretical understanding of external diseconomy of pollution, a role of environmental policies and international negotiations on various air and water related pollutions.

- Theory of Technical Progress (3)

This course covers types of technological innovation, innovation process, diffusion process, technological innovation strategy, technology and employment, technology and economic growth, technology and environment, innovation and public policy. It also covers the effects of technological innovation on firm's competitiveness.

- Economic Fluctuations (3)

Studies the relationship between economic growth, poverty, and income distribution. Discusses how globalization affects poverty and inequality. - Information Economics (3)

In this course, we study what kinds of problems with the efficient functioning of a market may arise when people have asymmetric information. The introduction of asymmetric information into various economic problem will give us new insights into how market failure might arise and whether there may be corrections which can improve welfare. Well-known problems like adverse selection and moral hazard as well as other problems will be discussed.

- Consumer Economics (3)

This course analyzes various kinds of problems associated with personnel management on the basis of economics tools. Typical topics include recruitment, labor turnover, team production, and job allocation.

- Input-Output Analysis (3)

Input-Output Analysis contains new contributions to inter-industry economics by a set of internationally respected authors. We explore the frontiers for traditional topics in input-output analysis such as inter-industry linkages, feedback effects, and the composition of economic changes.

- Economic Growth (3)

It covers various topics associated with business cycles and economic growth. Topics include the role of financial market in economic fluctuations, exogenous and endogenous growth models, and sources of business cycles.

- Economics Workshop (3)

Participants discuss recent research in economics and present their own work in progress.

- Advanced Economics Workshop (3)

Serves mainly as a forum for presentations by graduate students of their current research. Work presented can be very preliminary and conjectural.

- Seminar for M.A. Students (3)

This course is designed for M.A. students who want to obtain knowledge in themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Advanced Seminar for M.A. Students (3)

This course is designed for M.A. students who want to obtain knowledge in Advanced themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Selected Topics in Master's Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Master's Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Advanced Microeconomics (3)

A comprehensive course in economic theory designed for doctoral students in all parts of the university. Consumption, production, uncertainty, markets, general equilibrium. Applications to policy analysis and business decisions. Emphasizes the use of economic theory in practical research.

- Advanced Macroeconomics (3)

A basic course in graduate macroeconomics, including models of business fluctuations, theories of consumption, investment, money demand, and analysis of monetary and fiscal policy.

- Advanced Econometrics (3)

Statistical decision theory with applications to portfolio choice, panel data topics, selection bias, demand and supply, qualitative choice, and quantile regression.

- Selected Topics in Microeconomics (3)

Agricultural issues : Peasant behavior, land tenancy, interlinked markets. Credit and insurance market problems and institutions. Health, nutrition, and productivity.

Gender bias. Education.

- Selected Topics in Macroeconomics (3)

Dynamic models of development emphasizing migration, modernization, and technological change: static and dynamic models of political economy: rent seeking in and outside the government: trade liberalization, macroeconomic stabilization, and reform: the dynamics of income distribution and institutional change.

- Selected Topics in Econometrics (3)

Surveys various research designs that may be useful in empirical microeconomic research. Using examples from research in labor economics, covers issues in econometric modeling and identification, and causal interpretation in analyses of non-experimental data. Also provides a practical guide to implementing various econometric tools useful for applied research using cross-sectional and panel data.

- Survey in Economics (3)

Participants discuss recent research in economics and present their own work in progress.

- Selected Topics in Economics (3)

It covers important economic issues in the actual economy, which are not provided by typical text books. Students are required to present their studies on current economic issues in detail.

- Seminar for Doctoral Students (3)

This course is designed for Doctoral students who want to obtain knowledge in themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Advanced Seminar for Doctoral Students (3)

This course is designed for Doctoral students who want to obtain knowledge in Advanced themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Selected Topics in Doctoral Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Doctoral Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

Dept. of International Trade

The department of international trade offers international trade related courses such as microeconomics, macroeconomics, international trade theory, international trade policy, international finance, and econometric analysis. In addition, the department offers various courses that respond to the various social and academic needs.

The department of international trade tries to train experts in international trade areas using programs that help students to acquire the necessary knowledge and skills at the graduate level. The department offers an integrated master's and PhD degree program, in addition to the existing master's and PhD degree programs, in order to further strengthen the academic area as well as to respond to the various demands for graduate level education.

In the integrated master's and PhD degree program, students are required to choose a master's or a PhD degree upon the completion of the first year courses. For students who choose a master's degree, the department offers career related programs in the second year to help them to find employment. For students who choose a PhD degree, the department provides in-depth academic training to help them to become international trade experts who can publish in domestic and international journals.

International Trade Major

Students study international trade theories and international trade policies in depth. Based on the international trade theories, applied subjects such as economic integration and economic developments are also examined in this major.

International Finance Major

The purpose of this major is to investigate the structures and price determinations of international financial markets including foreign exchange markets. The linkage between the domestic and international financial markets are also studied.

Courses

Core Courses

· Research Ethics & Thesis Study (3)

This course offers basic tools necessary for thorough analysis in business and economics. In this course students get acquainted with computing skills, essay writings, word processing skills, Excels, and so on.

- International Trade Policy (3)

This course focuses on the study of International Trade Policy. It examines and analyses various instruments of international trade policies that countries implement to facilitate or restrict trade. Special attention is paid to who gains and loses as a result of different trade policies and to whether the overall gains outweigh the losses or not. Further, it examines various controversial issues in trade policy.

- Microeconomics Theory (3)

This course covers microeconomic theories and their application to various topics in consumer behavior, demand, production, costs, etc.

- Macroeconomics Theory (3)

This course introduces determination of national income and prices, and explains effects of macroeconomic policies on production, employment and prices.

- Statistics Analysis of Economics and Business (3)

The aim of this course is to provide an understanding of the statistical inference theory in graduate level.

- Econometrics Analysis of Economics (3)

This course is basically concerned with the analysis of multiple linear regression model. The topics of heteroscedasticity, serial correlation and two stage least squares will be discussed.

- Research Methodology (3)

This course offers basic tools necessary for thorough analysis in business and economics. In this course students get acquainted with computing skills, essay writings, word processing skills, Excels, and so on.

- International Trade Theory (3)

This course provides basic treatment of theories of international flow of goods and services. Major focus of the course is on the determinants of international trade patterns.

- Applied Microeconomics (3)

An introduction to "the strategic way of thinking" and a primer on game theory with applications to economics and other social sciences. Topics covered include the prisoner's dilemma and the arms race; dominance reasoning and the minimax theorem; mixed strategies and Nash equilibrium; bargaining and collective action; threats, promises and negotiated games; the evolution of cooperation. No special mathematical preparation required.

- Industrial Economics

This course aims to familiarize students with current theory and empirical method in Industrial Economics.

- Seminar for M.A. Students (3)

This course is designed for M.A. students who want to obtain knowledge in themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Advanced Seminar for M.A. Students (3)

This course is designed for M.A. students who want to obtain knowledge in Advanced themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Topics in Master's Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Master's Thesis Guidance (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Seminar for Doctoral Students (3)

This course is designed for Doctoral students who want to obtain knowledge in themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Advanced Seminar for Doctoral Students (3)

This course is designed for Doctoral students who want to obtain knowledge in Advanced themes in Economics. Various topics may be covered by experts from outside the University.

- Topics in Doctoral Thesis (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

- Doctoral Thesis Guidance (3)

In all cases the thesis topic must have been formally submitted to and approved by a thesis advisor.

□ International Trade Major

• Advanced International Trade Theory (3)

This course provides an advanced treatment of theories of international flow of goods and services. Major focus of the course is on the determinants of international trade patterns.

• Seminar in commerce (3)

This course focuses on macroeconomic analysis of economic and commercial realities.

• Advanced International Trade Policy (3)

This course intends to acquaint students with advanced topics and theories of international trade policy.

• Advanced Seminar in International Trade Theory (3)

This course provides seminars in theories of international flow of goods and services. Major focus of the course is on the determinants of international trade patterns.

• Advanced Seminar in International Trade Policy (3)

This course provides seminars in advanced topics and theories of international trade policy.

• Theory & Practice of Korean Trade (3)

This course covers various topics and theories associated with Korean Trade.

• Industry Studies (3)

This course aims at understanding what drives the differences in sales across industries and why do firms' relative positions tends to change over time.

• Understanding Global Trade (3)

A study of relationship between trade environment and economic integration.

• Trade Patterns in East Asia (3)

A study of economic changes in East Asian countries on export, foreign direct investments and financial market.

Dept. of Business Administration

The department of business administration offers a fine graduate program with excellent faculty members as well as high quality academic resources and facilities. The program provides a small group of selected graduate students with opportunities to gain an understanding of latest theories and practices in modern businesses and to conduct in depth research into key business issues. The program aims to produce students who make significant contributions to their respective businesses or academic communities through their knowledge and insights gained through rigorous training. To achieve this goal, the program equips students with modern business theories and capabilities of research into key business issues. Through intensive and systematic guidance by faculty, the program trains young scholars by helping them acquire creative thinking and insights into the business world. The program put emphasis on students' good character and ethical standards required in the globalizing world.

□ Management Major

Management major is designed to educate students with the leading edge theory and practice associated with the organization design, management processes, and people management. Students learn how individuals and groups behave in organizations and how firms effectively design and implement management systems, structures, and processes in alignment with business strategy. Topics of interest include organizational behaviors, organization theory, human resource management, strategic management, business coaching, and entrepreneurship. When successfully completing the program, students will find professional career opportunities in teaching and research in colleges, leading public and private research institutes, management consulting, business coaching, or leadership positions in start-ups.

□ Finance Major

We offer courses related to financial markets, financial products and financial institutions. The curriculum is designed to help students to acquire essential techniques for practical applications as well as analytical foundations for research. Students are expected to get used highly technical methodologies for both studies and research. Graduates generally seek their professional career opportunities in investment banks, consulting firms, commercial banks, and other financial institutions.

□ Marketing Major

The field of marketing is a valuable preparation for many types of management careers including consulting, entrepreneurial management, and line management. The variety of courses offered by the marketing faculty has been designed to meet the needs of management generalists and those who choose either the marketing management or marketing research major areas. Using a combination of lectures, readings, case studies, and computer simulations, the course reviews the fundamental approaches to analysis in each of the marketing policy areas, new product development, pricing, promotion strategy, management of channels of distribution, and marketing research.

□ Service Management Major

Service Management major provides students with a deep grounding in the basic logic of management of services enterprises as well as service innovation of manufacturing enterprises. This major offers a range of courses covering theories and methodologies as well as cases in service management and service innovation. This background would position students well for leading service innovation at both services and manufacturing enterprises.

□ Insurance & Finance Major

We will study various theories and techniques in insurance as well as decision making about efficient procurement and operation of funds under international business environment.

□ POL Major(Purchasing, Operations and Logistics Management Major)

POL major offers a list of courses related to the major issues in three business process areas - purchasing, operations, and logistics. The graduate program in this major is designed to produce the management specialists who have both professional skills and diverse educational experiences by providing the students with the chance to learn how to integrate detailed field knowledge of three areas.

□ Courses

□ Core Courses

· Research Methodology (3) 경영학연구방법론

The course aims at equipping students with capabilities to design and conduct in-depth empirical analysis on research topics on modern business. Students exercise statistical tools with their own research data.

· Seminar in Business Statistics (3) 경영통계학세미나

The level of this course is higher than that of 'Business Statistics'. Students in the Ph.D program learn higher-level concepts of statistics and acquire higher-level statistical techniques.

- Seminar in Research Methodology (3) 경영학연구방법세미나

The level of this course is higher than that of 'Research Methodology'. Students in the Ph.D program learn higher-level concepts of research methodology. This course helps students find appropriate research methodology and statistical tools for their research topics.

- Econometrics (3) 계량경제학

The aim of this course is to help students get acquainted with feasible and valid econometric techniques so that they could extract the right information from the right data to have the right understanding of the economic problems of interest. To achieve this, we discuss both econometric theories and many empirical applications. In particular, this introductory class will be focused more on practices with computer exercises rather than analytic proofs.

- Research Ethics & Thesis Study (3) 연구윤리와논문연구

Graduate students will develop an understanding of the nature of ethical decision-making and its role in research ethics. They will also acquire an appreciation of the reasons for conducting ethical review of research and an awareness of some of the international codes of research ethics that have been developed in response to scandals and abuses in research. Finally, they will understand the nature and definition of research ethics and an appreciation of the importance of good research.

- Analysis of Statistic Data (3) 통계자료처리론

Study the ability to effectively identify and summarize high accuracy with low sacrifice of statistically obtained data.

- Management Major

- Organizational Behavior (3) 조직행동론

Organizational Behavior is a field of study that investigates the impact that individuals, groups, and structure have on behavior within organizations, for the purpose of applying such knowledge toward improving an organization's effectiveness. This course offers an introduction to the best works (mostly articles but also include book chapters) that have been published on the important research areas within the field of organizational behavior. This course helps students have theoretical perspectives on classic and current issues in organizational behaviors.

- Human Resource Management (3) 인적자원관리

The purpose of this course is to provide master and doctoral students with a comprehensive understanding of the domain of Human Resource Management

(HRM) research. The course is structured largely into two parts. In the first half of the semester ("HR in Action"), we will review the topics in HR such as recruitment, selection, training, and compensation while reading articles related to each topic. The goal of this first part of the course is to allow you to narrow down the HR topics that you are interested in studying. In the second half of the semester ("Theoretical Lens"), we will examine theoretical perspectives that researchers and other students in organizational behavior and HR have used to understand (and critique), predict, and ultimately control the behavior of individuals in organizational settings. The goal of this second part is to help you find the right theoretical lens to explore "the" HR topic of your choice.

- Organization Theory (3) 조직이론

This course is designed for the entry-level graduate students seeking exposure to major trends and debates in the literature of organization theory. Students learn various theories explaining how organizations are formed, survive and prosper, interact with other organizations, how they deal with the problems occurring inside and outside the boundaries, and how they acquire the resources necessary for the survival and growth. In doing so, the course particularly focuses on the organizational structures and processes that best fit the environmental contingencies. Bureaucracy, resource dependence, population ecology, transaction cost economics, network theory, and contingency theory are the topics to be covered in this course.

- Strategic Management (3) 전략경영

This course focuses on the foundation of strategic management research. The course will offer an understanding of the key concepts, theories and interconnected research streams in strategic management. The objectives of this course are to (1) review the major theoretical perspectives and issues studies in strategic management research to (2) help students have an interdisciplinary perspective on current issues in strategic management. The course begins with the question of performance differences between firms among and across industries, which could be explained through a variety of lenses addressed in this course.

- Research in Leadership (3) 리더십연구

The course discusses many theories on leadership-one of the key issues in organizational behavior-and how to put them into practice. This course covers various theoretic perspectives such as trait theory, contingency theory, transactional versus transitional approach, charismatic leadership, and issue leadership.

- Negotiation in Organizations (3) 협상연구

This course will provide students with various perspectives in behavioral decision making theory and behavioral approach to negotiation. The course views an individual primarily as a bounded rational decision maker in mixed motive contexts which combine competitive and cooperative aspect of the exchange relationship. Each class covers major theories in the negotiation literature by reviewing a core set of readings and discussing critical issues that have been developed in the field. Learning objectives of this course include 1) obtaining an understanding of the central concepts of the decision making and negotiation literature, 2) developing expertise in the domain of scholarly interest, 3) exploring new research ideas and models, 4) building necessary practical skills of negotiation and other conflict resolution techniques, and possibly 5) gaining practical experience to become successful negotiators.

• Research Methodology for Management Studies (3) 매니지먼트연구방법론

The purpose of this course is to provide master and doctoral students with a foundation for designing and using methods (quantitative and qualitative) to perform empirical research in organizational behavior and human resources (OB/HR) areas. Rather than giving you the detailed background knowledge of each method – which you can learn in other method classes, we focus on the set of practical skills that can be applied to your own research in the current field of OB/HR.

• Statistical Methods for Management Studies I (3) 매니지먼트통계자료처리론1

In this course, students will learn different statistical methods that are widely used in management research. Ultimately, students are expected to conduct statistical analyses to test the research of their own choosing.

• Statistical Methods for Management Studies II (3) 매니지먼트통계자료처리론2

In this course, students will learn different statistical methods that are widely used in management research. Ultimately, students are expected to conduct statistical analyses to test the research of their own choosing.

• Seminar in Entrepreneurship (3) 창업이론세미나

This seminar will focus upon the theoretical and empirical research on entrepreneurship. It will let students (1) become familiar with relevant research on Entrepreneurship (2) develop and evaluate research questions within the field. Most literature is related to the entrepreneur or entrepreneurial team, but may include corporate entrepreneurship within the established firm. The seminar is closely related to courses in strategic management, which are recommended to be taken before this seminar.

• Seminar in Organizational Behavior (3) 조직행동세미나

In this course, organizational behavior is explored at the individual, group, and organization levels. The course explores related theories and cases. It provides an opportunity for students to learn current advanced knowledge in motivation, personality, leadership, conflict management among individuals, teams, groups, and organizations. The final purpose of this course is to complete publishable paper draft or proposal.

- Seminar in Strategic Management (3) 전략경영세미나

Students in this course survey the related literature; look into recent theories and practices in business strategy; and prepare thesis for graduation. This course covers various current theoretical issues such as strategic processes, business strategy, and corporate strategy.

- Independent Study I (3) 논문연구 I

The aim of this course is to teach the process of dissertation writing. Students are expected to carry out a series of projects for dissertations, such as clarifying a research question, literature review, research design, data collection, and data analysis.

- Independent Study II (3) 논문연구 II

The aim of this course is to teach the process of dissertation writing. Students are expected to carry out a series of projects for dissertations, such as clarifying a research question, literature review, research design, data collection, and data analysis.

- Research Seminar in Management (3) 매니지먼트연구세미나

The purpose of this course is twofold: (1) to introduce master and doctoral students with a wide range of research topics in the field of management and (2) to teach students how to narrow down a research topic. Students will become an expert in the research area that they chose and finalize the research question for the dissertations or theses.

- Seminar in Organization Theory (3) 조직이론세미나

This course provides a in-depth understanding of the theories and practices associated with the structure and design of organizations that dominate the modern society. This course deals with more theory-driven advanced topics in bureaucracy, resource dependence, population ecology of organizations, transaction cost economics, institutionalization, social networks, power and conflict, and corporate governance. The course will also explore how firms benefit from implementing some of the theories in real world business organizations. Organization Theory is strongly recommended as a prerequisite for this course.

- Human Resource Development (3) 인적자원개발

This course is designed to provide students with an overview of various theoretical perspectives and research processes in human resource development. Students learn key concepts, procedures, and practices of human resource development. Also, students explore a wide range of systematic activities of an business organization to provide its employees with the necessary knowledge and skills that meet current and future job demands. More specifically, topics will cover needs assessments, task analysis, designing and implementing training programs, evaluating training programs, career development, and organization development.

· Seminar in Coaching Psychology (3) 코칭심리학연구

This course focuses on the comprehensive understanding of the domain of coaching theories. This course involves the application of the research theory and practice of the behavioral science of psychology to the coaching area. The purposes of this course are to (1) review the major theories on coaching to (2) help students have an interdisciplinary perspective on current issues in coaching field.

□ Finance Major

· Corporate Financial Theory (3) 기업재무이론

The purpose of this course is to trace the impact of the economic recession and political turmoil on contemporary Russian society. Through this course, students analyze changes since the collapse of USSR. Special focus is put on changes since perestroika, such as class stratification, population movement and growth. Welfare systems, gender stratification and women's issues, environment problems, and educational issues are also studied. By analyzing Russian society in the context of radical transformation, this course works to understand characteristics of Russian society and directions of future change.

· Research Methodology in Finance I (3) 재무연구방법론 I

Quantitative techniques required for finance majors are covered in this course. The examples of techniques include linear algebra, optimization, and regressions. The course will utilize software programs for statistical analysis.

· Research Methodology in Finance II (3) 재무연구방법론II

Students will learn some basic knowledge of financial time series data, study simple models and methods for analysis of financial time series, and understand proper use and limits of econometric methods in finance in this course.

· Investment Theory and Strategy (3) 투자이론및전략

This course on investments covers theoretical models on investments, investment strategies, metrics used in evaluating investment performance, and portfolio management techniques.

· Introduction to Financial Theory (3) 기초재무이론

The course analyzes financial activities of business organizations. The course aims at familiarizing students with techniques to evaluate business performance based on financial statement information.

- Financial Engineering (3) 금융공학

Students are expected to obtain a thorough understanding of risk-return characteristics of various investment instruments such as equities, bonds, convertibles, futures and options. Students learn pricing models and investment strategies using these instruments.

- Corporate Control (3) 기업지배이론

The topics covered in this course is theories of firm, agency problems, bankruptcies and restructuring, and various M&A techniques and issues. This course will focus on the mechanisms for hostile takeover as also takeover defenses such as poison pills, golden parachutes, etc.

- Theory of Financial Decision Making (3) 재무의사결정론

This course covers portfolio analysis, asset pricing models, and investment strategies. It uses both the lecture and the case method of instruction to develop a practical understanding of some of the more important financial instruments and markets and to enhance abilities of application to real world.

- Valuation Seminar (3) 가치평가세미나

This course focuses on corporate asset management, in particular, on valuation. Topics that will be discussed include financial statement analysis, estimating cost of capital, valuation of projects, valuation of companies in takeovers, cross border valuation, and valuation of strategic options.

- Risk Management Seminar (3) 리스크관리세미나

Dept. of Data Science

The objective of the Department of Data Science is to enhance professional competence on the basis of sharpen understanding of management, data science, and statistics in turbulent management environment. The curriculum consists of three parts: (1) understanding management theories such as management strategy, business processes, and organization management, (2) acquiring analytics and quantitative methods to complex problems in all areas of business including finance and accounting, and (3) applying fundamental skills and knowledge of business analytics and statistics in a modern organization for improving competitive advantage of companies. We provide a variety of opportunities to students for keeping balance management theory with practical experience via lecture on management principles, practical tutorials, industry-university cooperation through strategic alliance with leading companies in business analytics and data science industries.

Students can differentiate themselves with general knowledge on management disciplines and specialized knowledge on business analytics and statistics. After graduation, the students are expected to be a professional data scientist, business and IT analysts, consultants in business and IT, and general manager in all business areas including finance, accounting, and marketing.

□ Data Science Major

The goal of Data Science Major is designed to provide an understanding of management, data science, statistics and how business analytics is used for management decisions in organizations. Students will be exposed to a theoretical foundation on management, business analytics, and statistics disciplines. Application of these theories to the success of organizations and to the roles of management, IS professionals, and business analyst will also be presented. This major trains students in the quantitative skills needed for analyzing large-scale data as social media data and real-time and historical data to create more efficient business processes and more accurate decision making, and building more effective business models. Skills taught include statistics, operations research methods, database, data mining, and social mining.

□ Courses

□ Core Courses

·Introduction to Data Science (3)

This course overviews the multidisciplinary aspects of data science, including business, statistics, and computer science. It introduces basic theories and techniques for decision makers to make effective business decisions drawing on data analytics.

·Statistical Models and Application (3)

This course is intended to introduce students to generalised linear modelling methods for both discrete and continuous data.

·Introduction to Machine Learning (3)

This course handles the principles and theories of data mining which is essential when looking at the realization of business intelligence. The course is designed to have both theoretical study and practical experiences, and the theoretical study looks at the basics of data mining and various methodologies. In the practice sessions, students are expected to build experience in information gathering and mining through using most widely used business software.

□ Data Science Major Courses

·Text Analytics (3)

This course teaches the basic skills of social media data mining including text mining. Students will learn how to derive business insight through social data analytics.

·Social Media Analytics (3)

The course offers insights to the concept and fundamentals of analytic techniques of social network. Through the analytic studies and software, students can grasp the real cases of how social network has affected the management and information system.

·Introduction to Deep Learning (3)

This course introduce deep learning methods including artificial neural networks, deep neural networks, convolutional neural networks, and recurrent neural networks. Students learn the basic theories and practice to implement the algorithms in order to solve business problems.

·Deep Learning Applications (3)

In this course, students learn the latest techniques in the deep learning framework such as reinforcement learning and generative adversarial networks. With focus on both theory and practice, this course covers advanced deep learning models for various applications.

·Big Data Distributed Processing (3)

This course provides basic concepts and usage of sourcing and storing big data across a firm. In addition, this course prepares the students for fundamental understanding and monitoring a quality of big data.

·Machine Learning Project (3)

In this course, students will explore the latest research trends of machine learning methodologies for big data analysis and practice to implement it to real world data.

·Research Seminar in Data Science (3)

This seminar is prepared to educate new trends, issues and techniques of business analytics with discussion, presentation, special lectures by field experts

·Block Chain Business (3)

In this course, students are expected to understand the principles and main techniques of block chain and learn how to apply block chain models to various areas such as IoT, e-election, content management, and public document management.

·Case Study on Data Science (3)

In this course, students are expected to explore the modern data analytics techniques to analyze big data including supervised and unsupervised learnings.

·Multivariate Statistical Analysis (3)

This course provides an introduction to multivariate statistics. It will cover multivariate ANOVA and principal components analysis (PCA), multidimensional scaling (MDS), factor analysis and clustering. This course will then study canonical correlation, discriminant analysis, and structural equation modeling or other topics of interest to the students. The course is a mix of theory and hands on application to data.

·Research Methods for Business (3)

In this course, students learn about how to scientifically collect, modify, process, store, and distribute business data and information.

·SQL and Data Warehouse (3)

To learn how to model and analyze various techniques for analyzing big data and to get effective results. Also introduces and learns visualization principles of management data and actual design related issues. Through this, we define core analysis that has a direct impact on the competitiveness of the company and develop the ability to continuously maintain and strengthen the enterprise value through visualization of these core analysis.

·Business Optimization and Simulation (3)

In this course, students learn how to develop and analyze strategies by using a variety of techniques from many disciplines including Management Science, Finance, and Accounting.

·Big Data Analytics Planning (3)

This course is designed to provide experience of data science process ranging from data collection to usage. This course makes students to apply theories and techniques to real-life case, leading to improved understanding of data science.

·Research Ethics & Thesis Study (3)

Graduate students will develop an understanding of the nature of ethical decision-making and its role in research ethics. They will also acquire an appreciation of the reasons for conducting ethical review of research and an awareness of some of the international codes of research ethics that have been developed in response to scandals and abuses in research. Finally, they will understand the nature and definition of research ethics and an appreciation of the importance of good research.

·Marketing Analytics (3)

This course covers various data analysis tools to improve marketing decision. Topics include marketing theory, target positioning, and strategy for creating market value and brand concept.

·Big Data Wrangling & Visualization (3)

This course introduces EDA(Exploratory Data Analysis)-type techniques to find out the structure and characteristic of data, focusing on visualization methods to summarize big data.

·Geospatial Big Data Analytics (3)

This course introduces and learns the principles of visualization of big data and actual design issues. Students will develop spatial big data analysis capabilities for enhancing companies' competitive advantage by learning big data visualization programs to efficiently visualize and analyze spatial big data.

·Visual AI (3)

This course provides opportunities to learn the latest deep learning technologies and to analyze real-life cases for implementing Visual AI. Students can develop AI+X capabilities for creating new business opportunities by integrating AI into marketing, production, logistics, finance, and human resources.

·Conversational AI (3)

This course helps student to develop the capabilities to create new business opportunities by learning the latest deep learning application technologies and practices for implementing Conversational AI. Students can have opportunities for applying them across a wide range of firms' activities.

·Recommend System (3)

Students will develop the ability to build a recommendation system that meets customers needs by learning various recommendation algorithms and the techniques for improving firms' performance.
